WESTMORELAND – The Pottawatomie Board of County Commissioners has hired Treanor Architects, P.A., to create a master plan for its justice facilities.

The plan will include options for the development of a new jail, courthouse and sheriff's offices. It also will evaluate the current courthouse for re-use of the existing space.

Treanor is undertaking the project in conjunction with Voorhis Associates, Inc., a Colorado-based firm that will assist in facility, operational and strategic planning for Pottawatomie County's justice system needs.

The assessment is scheduled for completion in February 2010.

Treanor Architects is a design firm providing services in architecture, planning, interior design, historic preservation and graphic design. Established in 1981, Treanor currently employs more than 50 professionals and support staff. Treanor provides a full scope of architectural services for justice centers, student life facilities, historic preservation projects and medical facilities.
